Like great performers, great caterers are known for their versatility. The most talented have the ability to portray a range of roles with ease. Feastivities is such a caterer. Whether it's an elegant wedding, a Western-style barbecue or a formal corporate gala, holiday cocktails or a garden tea, Feastivities works closely with every client to orchestrate a one-of-a-kind event.

Feastivities is the creation of husband-and-wife team Meryl and Andy Snow. For the past 20 years their professionalism and pure enthusiasm for what they do is evident in every detail of every party they create. Andy or Meryl personally oversee every event they cater. It's this kind of commitment to service that keeps clients coming back again and again.

Feastivities works very hard to keep their services affordable. They own unique copper chafing dishes, antique copper samovars, as well as many props and fabrics that can be used to create your vision. They have a staff of more than 150 on hand to efficiently prepare for and staff your event.

Feastivities looks forward to helping you plan your next event. When you have Feastivities take care of every detail you can enjoy being a guest at your own party. Let Feastivities put their talents to work for you.
